

Prof. Sathirakorn Pongpanich

Dean of the College of Public Health Sciences

Chulalongkorn University

Thailand

Prof. Sathirakorn Pongpanich, Ph.D. is currently a Dean of the College of Public Health Sciences Chulalongkorn University Thailand. He is a health economist by training and specializing in the area of health policy and management, health services and healthcare administration. His research areas of interest include cost of treatment of diseases, health insurance, negotiation in public health, health education, health policy and planning and applied health economics in medical field. He is regularly invited as a keynote speaker or guest lecturer for many international conference, courses and programs around the world including the USA, UK, EU, ASEAN, GMS and Japan. Prof. Pongpanich looks forward to developing and collaborating with many universities regarding One Health educational programs.