

Dr. Lijie Zhang

Vice Director

CFETP, China CDC

People's Republic of China

Dr. Lijie Zhang has been serving as a senior epidemiologist in Chinese Field Epidemiology training program (CFETP), Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention (China CDC) since 2007. She provides guidance for the CFETP residents on emergency investigations, planned epidemiology studies, surveillance system evaluation and surveillance data analysis. She has supervised more than 150 residents coming from different provincial CDCs throughout the county and participated in more than 100 outbreak investigations including Covid-19, H1N1 pandemic, cholera, food poisoning, etc. She also participated in the statistical publication of “China CDC Weekly,” and served as the managing editor for the same. Dr. Zhang earned her Ph.D. in Epidemiology and Statistics from China CDC in 2005. She earned her Master’s degree in Social Medicine and Public Health Management from Beijing Union Medical College in 2002.